

Fig. 3.1 for Question 3

Fig. 3.1

Fig. 4.1 for Question 4

Ecotourism in Costa Rica

Costa Rica has been associated with ecotourism for a number of years. 26% of the land is given over to national parks, reserves and protected lands. There is much to see and do, with exotic birds and wildlife, a wide variety of marine species and the chance to stay in traditional accommodation with local people.

The family environment offers an opportunity for personalised attention and helps to inform visitors about rural culture, farming traditions and small local industries and crafts. It is possible to experience traditional foods and to see the sustainable experiences in practice.

Costa Rica provides an adventure; it is a land of volcanoes, rivers, lakes and rainforests where activities such as rafting, kayaking, aerial walkway explorations and snorkelling may be experienced.

Fig. 4.1

BLANK PAGE

---

The boundaries and names shown, the designations used and the presentation of material on any maps contained in this question paper/insert do not imply official endorsement or acceptance by Cambridge Assessment International Education concerning the legal status of any country, territory, or area or any of its authorities, or of the delimitation of its frontiers or boundaries.

Permission to reproduce items where third-party owned material protected by copyright is included has been sought and cleared where possible. Every reasonable effort has been made by the publisher (UCLES) to trace copyright holders, but if any items requiring clearance have unwittingly been included, the publisher will be pleased to make amends at the earliest possible opportunity.

To avoid the issue of disclosure of answer-related information to candidates, all copyright acknowledgements are reproduced online in the Cambridge Assessment International Education Copyright Acknowledgements Booklet. This is produced for each series of examinations and is freely available to download at www.cambridgeinternational.org after the live examination series.

Cambridge Assessment International Education is part of the Cambridge Assessment Group. Cambridge Assessment is the brand name of the University of Cambridge Local Examinations Syndicate (UCLES), which itself is a department of the University of Cambridge.