Published

This mark scheme is published as an aid to teachers and candidates, to indicate the requirements of the examination. It shows the basis on which Examiners were instructed to award marks. It does not indicate the details of the discussions that took place at an Examiners' meeting before marking began, which would have considered the acceptability of alternative answers.

Mark schemes should be read in conjunction with the question paper and the Principal Examiner Report for Teachers.

Cambridge International will not enter into discussions about these mark schemes.

Cambridge International is publishing the mark schemes for the May/June 2019 series for most Cambridge IGCSE™, Cambridge International A and AS Level and Cambridge Pre-U components, and some Cambridge O Level components.

Generic Marking Principles

These general marking principles must be applied by all examiners when marking candidate answers. They should be applied alongside the specific content of the mark scheme or generic level descriptors for a question. Each question paper and mark scheme will also comply with these marking principles.

GENERIC MARKING PRINCIPLE 1:

Marks must be awarded in line with:

- the specific content of the mark scheme or the generic level descriptors for the question
- the specific skills defined in the mark scheme or in the generic level descriptors for the question
- the standard of response required by a candidate as exemplified by the standardisation scripts.

GENERIC MARKING PRINCIPLE 2:

Marks awarded are always whole marks (not half marks, or other fractions).

GENERIC MARKING PRINCIPLE 3:

Marks must be awarded positively:

- marks are awarded for correct/valid answers, as defined in the mark scheme. However, credit is given for valid answers which go beyond the scope of the syllabus and mark scheme, referring to your Team Leader as appropriate
- marks are awarded when candidates clearly demonstrate what they know and can do
- marks are not deducted for errors
- marks are not deducted for omissions
- answers should only be judged on the quality of spelling, punctuation and grammar when these features are specifically assessed by the question as indicated by the mark scheme. The meaning, however, should be unambiguous.

GENERIC MARKING PRINCIPLE 4:

Rules must be applied consistently e.g. in situations where candidates have not followed instructions or in the application of generic level descriptors.

GENERIC MARKING PRINCIPLE 5:

Marks should be awarded using the full range of marks defined in the mark scheme for the question (however; the use of the full mark range may be limited according to the quality of the candidate responses seen).

GENERIC MARKING PRINCIPLE 6:

Marks awarded are based solely on the requirements as defined in the mark scheme. Marks should not be awarded with grade thresholds or grade descriptors in mind.

	Level 1 (1–2 marks) will identify up to two valid impacts providing some detail within the context but will be mainly descriptive.
	Level 2 (3–4 marks) can be awarded for explanation of how the impacts affect the development of a tourism industry.
	Level 3 (5–6 marks) can be awarded for discussion of the significance/importance of the impacts. Better answers may have a reasoned conclusion.

	Foreign investment can provide valuable capital that the destination may not be able to provide, especially if they are an LEDC. However, it comes with significant risks, such as leakage [L1] profits made from the tourism organisations will be taken back to the investors' home country reducing the economic benefits [L2]. The loss of money from the economy limits the multiplier effects within the country as the money no longer circulates in the economy [L3]. The destinations' tourism infrastructure can also be vulnerable as the investors could withdraw from the country at any point [L1]. This would result in a loss of tourism organisations reducing the provision available to tourists [L2]. If the country is an LEDC there may be no local investors able to step in, resulting in a possible loss of appeal in the destination [L3]. Ultimately many destinations have no choice but to seek foreign investment, however this does reduce tourism economic benefits and makes the destination economically vulnerable [L3].

Question	Answer	Mark
2(e)	Discuss the reasons why governments might invest in sea transport.	6
	Indicative content:
	Improve access to other areas/alternative appeal
	Creation of jobs
	Environment targets
	Develop tourism industry – attract cruises
	Reduce congestion/overcrowding
	Credit all valid responses in context.
	Level 1 (1–2 marks) will identify up to two valid reasons providing some detail within the context but will be mainly descriptive.
	Level 2 (3–4 marks) can be awarded for an explanation of why governments might invest in sea transport.
	Level 3 (5–6 marks) can be awarded for discussion of the significance/importance of the reason. Better answers may have a reasoned conclusion.
	Governments may invest in sea transport as an alternative method of transport to provide increased/improved access to an area/destination [L1]. Although this is likely to be a very large expenditure it will benefit the tourism industry and the local population [L2]. It may also be to meet the strategic tourism objectives set by the government/NTOs by improving the appeal of the destination to other sectors of tourism such as cruise tourism [L1]. Cruise tourists are noted to be big spenders when at a destination so attracting cruises can bring significant economic benefits to a destination [L2], resulting in a large return on the investment over time [L3]. Developing and improving sea transport can improve the tourism industry and bring economic benefits to a destination, however it requires large sums of money that not all destinations are able to provide, especially LEDCs, and foreign investment may be sought which brings with it problems of leakage [L3].

Question	Answer	Mark

3(e)	Assess the importance to tourism organisations of creating a customer care policy.

	 Indicative content:
	      Provides guidelines for all staff/branches – consistency
	      Improve customer satisfaction rates
	      Used for training
	      Sets out the required standards

	 Credit all valid responses in context.

	 Level 1 (1–2 marks) will identify up to two valid reasons providing some detail within the context but will be mainly descriptive.
	 Level 2 (3–4 marks) can be awarded for an explanation of the importance to tourism organisations of creating a customer care policy.
	 Level 3 (5–6 marks) can be awarded for assessment of the significance/importance. Better answers may have a reasoned conclusion.

	 Tourism organisations create customer care policies so that they can provide guidelines for their staff to work by [L1]. This means that they can have consistency across all staff and branches so customers are treated with the same standards throughout the organisational [L2]. This consistent approach can improve the image and sales of the organisation [L3]. For this consistent approach to be implemented staff need to be trained in the required standards of the organisation, the policy can be used as a training document [L1] educating staff in what is expected of them in detail [L2]. Overall the customer care policy brings many benefits to the organisation such as educating and controlling the service that is delivered, if done correctly this can bring improvements in customer satisfaction and repeat business, therefore improving the success of the organisation [L3].

4(e)	Discuss the benefits to tourism organisations of having QTS status.

	Indicative content:
	    Improve standards
	    Recognition
	    Marketing
	    Support guidance given on how to improve

	Level 1 (1–2 marks) will identify up to two benefits providing some detail within the context but will be mainly descriptive.
	Level 2 (3–4 marks) can be awarded for an explanation of how having QTS status benefits tourism organisations.
	Level 3 (5–6 marks) can be awarded for discussion of the significance/importance of the benefit. Better answers may have a reasoned conclusion.

	Tourism organisations can use the QTS as a way of improving standards [L1] working toward the QTS standards may help, or require them, to improve what they are doing, therefore improving the offering to their customers [L2]. This should make them stand out from competitors and improve their organisation over all [L3]. The QTS status can be used in marketing and promotional materials [L1] which will attract customers to use their services over others [L2] therefore the organisation should become more successful [L2]. Overall although gaining accreditation may require some work and improvement the overall benefits should help the success and future of the organisation [L3].
